Judge Geoff Taylor said, “I would like to congratulate all those who made the shortlist. The projects and individuals that were entered demonstrate dedication to providing high quality work, whether that be a concrete structure or a milestone made in improving health and safety in the industry. It was very tough narrowing these entries down, but it is great that the awards allow these companies and individuals to get the recognition that they deserve.”

CONSTRUCT day includes an exhibition and networking in the morning, followed by a three-course meal and entertainment provided by the hilarious comedian, Hal Cruttenden, leading in to the awards ceremony. The event will also be raising money for the charity, Lighthouse Club, the only charity to provide financial and emotional support to the construction community.

Dave Campbell, CONSTRUCT Manager said “The CONSTRUCT Day is the highlight of the concrete industry’s calendar. In addition to the glittering awards ceremony to celebrate this year’s winners, the event is coupled with a concrete focused exhibition, three-course lunch and entertainment throughout, with over 600 people from across the concrete industry in attendance. It’s an event not to be missed!”
